Cason Kirkpatrick Accepts Marketing Position with AMS Performance

Cason Kirkpatrick comes from the small town of New Lenox, IL. Growing up with my interests in sports and automotive mechanics, his childhood was filled with excitement. As a child he played youth hockey and raced motocross at a local track. He enjoyed working on his bikes with his father and was a grease monkey from the beginning. He would take apart almost everything that could and put it back together hoping that it worked just as good or better after. His passion for automotive work continued into his teens with the purchase of his first truck. He was playing very competitive hockey at this time, moving up on the ranks but nothing influenced him more than extreme sports.

After high school, before entering into a University setting, Cason decided to pursue his career of Ice Hockey and was drafted to a Jr. A hockey team in Kenosha, Wisconsin. He played for two years, traveling and competing all over the United States, leading his team to their first division championship. After a successful career of Jr's, Cason was contacted by Lewis University to attend and play for their Ice Hockey team. He graciously accepted the offer and arraigned to attend that following semester.

Cason entered Lewis University with a goal to succeed in receiving a Marketing degree and shoot for a master's degree. Throughout his entire journey, he never lost sight of his automotive background and love for anything with a motor. He continued to study and work on his cars part time, growing his knowledge of the automotive industry. Towards the middle of his senior year, Cason applied and got in touch with AMS Performance, a high-end performance shop in West Chicago and received a job offer. He accepted and is working his way through school to start AMS after graduation.

At AMS Performance, Cason will be apart of the Marketing and Social Media Marketing team with Brian Young. Cason will be attending events, taking photos and videos of the cars and lifestyles associated with the car scene all over the United States. Cason I very excited to start this roll at AMS say; "It's a dream come true for me, being able to apply what I know from school to my professional life while still maintaining my passion of cars" (Cason Kirkpatrick).

About AMS Performance

AMS specializes in automotive performance for Japanese and German turbocharged vehicles. We offer engine computer tuning (calibration), repairs and maintenance and most importantly engine and other driveline modifications. First and foremost AMS is an engineering company. Unlike other shops our parts are engineered to be the best performing you can buy. Most shops in the industry have a basic understanding of engine performance but at AMS we take it far past that using computer aided designs and mechanical engineers with years of motor sports experience. AMS and its sister brand Alpha Performance have been at the top of the game for 15 years. From turn-key packages to individual components we can meet and exceed all kinds of performance goals. From drag racing to road racing to spirited driving on the streets, let AMS enhance your driving experience! We offer extreme turbo builds all the way down to simple tuning upgrades.
